Dear Scientists, Philosophers
and Friends of Science and Philosophy.
Dear Mr.Higgs Chair.

The basis of scientific and philosophical research consists in asking (formulating) correct questions; only these guarantee the scientific nature and correctness of the research results. If such right questions are not asked, there is a great danger that the sentences and theories, i.e. the results of this research, will have no basis – and will therefore be unscientific, wrong or even pure nonsense.

In the appendix (pp. 2/3) I have formulated such a fundamental question which, had it been asked ‚in time‘, would probably have prevented that well-known ‚theory‘ (idiocy) – or at least eliminated it afterwards.

Among other things, it is about the question of whether the something that the physicists have calculated exactly based on a famous formula and of which they now even believe they have „photos“ is logically possible at all. Or, on the contrary, is this something logically completely impossible, so that these „photos“ apparently show something very different from what physicists believe it is?

As with every scientific system, as with every scientific train of thought, a basic, logistically self-contained, linguistic-symbolic or analytical-philosophical terminology is required here. The one used here is that of the philosopher Plato, see CALCULUS MATERIAE p.21 ff. and pp.108/109. The concept of „NOTHING“ is very important – which in Plato’s system, in connection to BEING (O) and IDENTITAS (A), itself presents an own IDEA (basic idea DIVERSITAS E) and was used by later philosophers and scientists, in particular by the solipsists of „German Idealism“ and their followers, no longer, not even remotely understood. Only this (extremely difficult to attain) understanding of E (DIVERSITAS) as an independent IDEA, whose designation „NOTHING“ is just an another name for E, confers the ability to truthfully (correctly) ask and answer all fundamental questions about the being (about the reality), which until now have been asked and answered completely wrongly by philosophy and science.

Every good wish.

Sincerely

G. E. Streibig alias Chyron

TO THE QUESTION OF ALL QUESTIONS

Question:

Why is the not NOTHING – the no EMPTY, no DIVERSITAS, no E – excluded?

Answer:

Because BEING needs (requires) the NOTHING – the EMPTY, the DIVERSITAS, the E – in order to be ‘in’ it (i.e. ‘in’ E).

The famous Leibniz Question was and is not quite correct. It must be asked correctly:

Why isn’t there just NOTHING?

Because the NOTHING – the EMPTY, the DIVERSITAS, the E – must exist in any case (see above).

Any axiom, definition, doctrine, syllogism, system, theory, formula, etc., that leads to such a not NOTHING – to such a no EMPTY, to such a no E [to such a no SPACE

E^{irr}, to such a ‘HOLE in HOLE’] –, is consequently ‘logical’ ‘scientific’ Non-sense.

Consequently, after Schwarzschild had calculated this nonsense of that theory of that weirdo (idiot), this total physical nonsense should have ended immediately. But physics consists or consisted even then, unfortunately, largely of co-idiots. See the “black hole” drawings on the newly (2022) made American A. website FQxi - Foundational Questions Institute. – But you should never give up hope completely...
